FIGHTING SPEECH BY PREMIER

SEE
PAGE 7

Hundreds of Naval Reservists arriving at their depots, hastily recalled after they had returned home from their annual training. These sailors photographed at Portsmouth a week ago are seen marching to Lympne airport, where they are being trained as mechanics to serve with the Fleet Air Arm. (Copyright, By Air Mail).

POLES CLAIM TO BE HOLDING UP ADVANCE

London, To-day.

THE POLES CLAIM to have repelled three air raids and to have brought down three German bombers at Cracow and four at Gdynia.

Radio Warsaw states that the Polish forces are effectively holding up the German advance.

German reports, on the other hand, state that thirteen Polish aerodromes have been bombed, with the result, it is claimed, that Germany now has domination in the air.

It is also claimed that the German troops driving from East Prussia have made a rapid advance.—Reuter.

FULL-SCALE ATTACK LAUNCHED BY GERMANY

WARSAW, TO-DAY.

THE OFFICIAL POLISH RADIO ANNOUNCES THAT THE GERMANS HAVE LAUNCHED A FULL-SCALE ATTACK AGAINST TOWNS IN THE POLISH CORRIDOR, AND ARE ALSO ATTACKING IN UPPER

SILESIA.

CRACOW AND KATOWICE HAVE BEEN BOMBED.—REUTER.

ARMoured TRAIN CAPTURED

Paris, To-day.

It is reported here that seven German bombing planes were brought down in a dog-fight near Warsaw and that a German armoured train has been captured by the Poles.

Six other towns besides Warsaw have been bombed, and though the German insist that they were attacking only military objectives, many civilians are reported to have been killed and injured.—Reuter.

ITALY WILL NOT TAKE MILITARY INITIATIVE

Rome, To-day.

There seems to be every likelihood that Italy will stay out of the conflict precipitated by Germany unless she is attacked.

There is complete calm in the city with the whole population awaiting the decision which Signor Mussolini is expected to make shortly.

The significant passage in Herr Hitler's speech, in which he declared that he would not ask any other country to assist in "carrying out our controversy with Poland" has been taken to mean that Mussolini had declined to give unconditional assurances of assistance.

Later.

The Council of Ministers has announced that they will take no initiative in military operations.—Reuter.

GERMAN ENVOY ASKED TO LEAVE

London, To-day.

Poland has requested the German Charge D'Affaires to leave the country.

The Polish Ambassador in Berlin has already been handed his papers. Both Polish Houses of Parliament are in session.—Reuter.

Limbering Exercises

By DONALD LOOMIS

If you have time for just one exercise some morning, I'd advise you to try this one which helps keep you flexible, limber and graceful; it stretches the back muscles and takes the fat off hips and thighs as well.

As you will see from the picture, posed by Jean Chatburn, you stand with feet well apart, arms folded and knees stiff. Bend forward, and as you go down keep twisting your body from side to side as you work yourself lower; then twist again as you work up. Be sure you feel every muscle in the back getting stretched, also feel the pull in the hips and thighs.

Girls who work in pictures must keep their weight six to eight pounds less than would be considered correct for the average girl. Because they cannot put on the extra pounds, picture girls are nearly always hungry and would eat like wolves if given the chance. If you are overweight and want to lose a few pounds, try following the advice I give these girls.

I tell them to drink a glass of orange juice when they feel desperately hungry, or to eat an apple, a slice of pineapple, several stalks of celery or a head of lettuce with the juice of a lemon squeezed over it.

When a girl acquires the habit of eating a great deal of food, it is difficult for her to give it up.

Lulie Rainer came from Vienna, Austria, where the ideal girl is much plumper than is considered beautiful over here. She was twenty pounds overweight according to our standards, although at her home she was thought slender. At first she couldn't understand why she was asked to lose some weight, as she believed it would make her face haggard and she would lose her pretty curves, but after she had observed our American stars on and off the screen she began to understand, and she worked hard to get rid of the excess poundage.

As a rule, though, overweight girls haven't the will power of thin girls, for they are likely to be complacent, content or lackadaisical. The thin girl runs instead of walking, is energetic and ambitious, and easy to work with because she wants to succeed. The fat girl, on the other hand, listens to me and does as she pleases.

"I'd like to be thin, of course," she will say, "but I'd much rather eat!"

What The Stars Foretell

By MARY BLAKE

If you permit yourself to do unnecessary worrying this day, your physical reaction is apt to be bad. Keep your mind occupied with constructive ideas and optimistic hopes, and your results may be gratifying. Friends, probably in more ways than one, will prove their friendship this day. Watch your footsteps, for if you are absentminded they may lead you into danger. Fatigue will be the principal cause for the average person's sense of irritation, so make it a point not to overexert yourself. Most quarrels this day are likely to originate from trifling misunderstandings, so before anger dulls your sense of justice analyse the reason for your being upset. Haste will perhaps do more harm than good, so it is advisable to take your time in doing anything worth while. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who are in love, will find that an unbridled tongue is conducive to trouble, and a carefully curbed one productive of much good.

If a woman and September 2 is your birthday, you should be a born strategist, particularly in planning social or business activities. Being diplomatic, your friends may frequently ask your aid in straightening out their personal affairs. High ideals, in all likelihood, will save you from making many mistakes in your dealings with men and women. You might find congenial and lucrative work as a writer, artist, teacher, singer, musician, or in some managerial capacity. Through marriage you are likely to find a safe haven from most troubles and tribulations of life.

The child born on September 2, frequently learns more from actual experience than from books. Opportunities will be readily recognised by this youngster and eagerly grasped, so its future appears to be auspicious.

EWO BEER

Poised with assurance is this attractive beauty who is fastidious to the letter. Consequently she is never lacking for attentions.

Attractive Summer Poise

How comforting it is to feel that no matter what fun the day or evening brings you are prepared for it! Let's pretend you start out to play tennis and the crowd decides to go for a swim instead. Isn't it nice to know that the night previous you made yourself dainty as possible by removing excess hair under your arms and from your legs and finished your grooming by giving your tootsies a good pedicure?

Or let's imagine that you do play tennis and are rushed home for a rapid shower and change of clothing to join the gang for lunch at some smart place. What a relief it is to have handy that anti-perspirant or deodorant you bought last week, so you may slip into that sheerest of blouses or most precious of dresses, without the least fear!

There is no denying that "a stitch in time saves nine," and the girl who is constantly meticulous in her grooming is not going to miss a bit of the summer's fun. Neither is she going to be lacking in popularity. For her insured daintiness gives her a poise which men so admire and other girls greatly envy.

MEN LIKE US SWEET.

And if you doubt for a moment that these little grooming details are not important I wish you could read

AFTER FEVER CARE

During fever, the whole system including the digestive organs is undermined and weakened. Convalescence will be hastened if tissue can be quickly rebuilt and strength restored by building up reserves. The patient must be encouraged to take as much nourishing food as the capacity of the weakened digestive organs will allow. Doctors all over the world have found that Horlicks supplies the right kind of nourishment in an easily digested form. Furthermore, it is palatable and helps to stimulate the appetite. Get Horlicks to-day, at your store. In an amazingly short time you will be up and strong again, full of vigour and vitality.

some of the letters which men and boys write to me! I'm inclined to believe that men are literally cleaner individuals than women — on the whole. They (those who are worth knowing and shedding affection on) find a fresh undershirt and shirt necessary every single day. They like to have oodles of socks on hand for frequent changes and there isn't a doubt in my mind that a man steps under a shower or into a bath, or takes a swim, more readily than the average woman! Of course, I know we have to get after them for finger-nails and other details, but let's give them credit for what they do do, and let's try to please our favourite ones by keeping sweet. Many a romance which started out at a surefire pace suddenly ended because the girl was indifferent to personal daintiness. These advertisements are telling the truth!

PREPARE IN SPARE MOMENTS

Just make it a regular daily habit to check your grooming details. If you need to use a depilatory, or to shave, do it, don't put it off until the next day. You never know what invitation is going to turn up suddenly. If your nail polish on feet or hands needs touching up, do it at once. If your hair needs shampooing get busy and wash it while you have the time. To-morrow may be full of fun while to-day is rather dull. Keep an anti-perspirant on hand but never, never apply it unless you bathe first—right after your shower or bath is a good time. And don't shun water and soap in hot weather. They are your best friends — give them a chance to help you preserve your personal allure!

CARRY AIDS WITH YOU

No summer bag should be so small that you cannot tuck a deodorant powder compact into it, and carry along a few cleansing pad discs. You'll find both very necessary if you get very active in hot weather. Nothing like keeping the illusion intact by slipping into the powder room, giving your face a quick but good cleansing and apply fresh lipstick and powder. If you perspire pretty freely slip off your blouse or dress, wipe a fresh supply of deodorant powder your underarms with a towed-moistened in cold water, and powder on. Then you're set for a few more hours and all your pals will wonder how you keep your poise, preserve your daintiness and still keep up with what's going on! That's the way you earn popularity, and the sooner you realise it the better!

PRINCESS COOKS FOR HER DADDY

Buckingham Palace has a new cook—the Princess Elizabeth.

One afternoon when the Royal Family sat down to afternoon tea a large plate of scones was placed on the table.

After the King and Queen had eaten some, Princess Elizabeth turned to her father and said: "Daddy, do you like those scones?"

"They're very nice," her father replied.

"Well, I baked them," cried Princess Elizabeth proudly.

Princess Elizabeth is allowed one hour each week to go down to the wonderful modern kitchens of the Palace and learn the art of cooking.

The Queen is so pleased with her daughter's progress that soon she will permit Princess Margaret Rose to take similar lessons.

LOCAL
OPTIMISTIC

The "China Mail" learns that the staff of the German Consulate in Hong Kong has not yet received any instructions from Berlin concerning the present situation.

Many members of the German community have left for Macao, but a good many are remaining in the Colony.

Even at this hour, many local Germans refuse to accept that a major conflagration in Europe is threatened.

COMPLAINT MADE

Banks, commercial houses and the news agencies are beginning to complain at the delays occasioned in the receipt of telegrams by the operation of the censorship.

In some instance, it is alleged, telegrams have been held up for "hours."

It is understood that official representations may be made, with a view to increasing the number of censors, if number is an influential factor in the delays.

A meeting of the Cabinet Council was held yesterday morning with Premier Stauning in the chair and was attended by all ministers present in Copenhagen.

RESERVISTS CALLED UP

Army and Navy reservists belonging to the classes of 1936 and 1937 have been called up.

At noon a conference took place at the Defence Ministry, the result of which will probably be the calling up of eight other classes.

The Danish broadcasting programme was changed yesterday. In future, reports on the international situation will be broadcast at short intervals while the non-political parts of the programme will be adapted to the gravity of the present hours.

NEUTRALITY ISSUE

Danish Foreign Minister Munch returned here yesterday morning from Oslo and confirmed on his arrival that the three Scandinavian States had decided to take suitable measures for promoting trade between them.

Minister Munch added that the neutrality problem had again been examined and that all three states were firmly resolved to continue to adhere to a policy of strict neutrality.—Trans-Ocean.

KWANGSI
BOMBINGS

Kweilin, To-day.

The outskirts of Liuchow, and Kila-chen, were subjected to severe air attacks by 18 Japanese planes yesterday.

More than 120 deadly missiles were rained, causing huge property losses. A primary school in Kilachen was totally wrecked.

Tsinkong, southwest of Liuchow, Pinyang, northeast of Nanning, and Sincheng, south of Ishan, were also bombed.—Central News.

GOING CONCERN DOESN'T GO

London. — A business enterprise that often fails to cover one day's working expenses by a whole month's working is optimistically maintained here at Ferry Lane, Brentford. It is indeed, the ferry, which exists to transport people to and from this point from and to Kew Gardens on the opposite bank of the Thames River.

The reason for its continued existence must have been called into question many times—not least of all by the gentleman most concerned, Charles Humphries, the ferryman.

Charlie's is what you might term a staple occupation. In fact, that is what's wrong with it. For instead of the ups and downs that there used to be in the business — the Thames can be very awkward in rough weather—there are now hardly any at all. And that goes for the backs and forths, too.

So Charlie just sits all day in his ferryboat watching the traffic go up and down, and hoping that some will desire to go across.

Mr. Humphries, however, continues to take his profession seriously. He is something of a thinker, as he certainly has time to be, and one of the things he thinks is that political crises in Europe are a poor show.

Though you might not suspect any connection between international diplomacy and travelling across the Thames from Brentford to Kew, he records as a fact—coincidence or not—that the receipts during the troubled month of September last year work out at 10 shillings.

To get this state of affairs into proper perspective you need to know that a waterman's wages and insurance work out per day at about 2s. 6d. more than that.

The owners of the ferry rights for this ferry that Londoners overlook so consistently hope that this year passenger trade will improve just enough to cover working expenses. After all, it's not much use having a going concern if it doesn't go.

WHALES SHUN RADIO

Cape Town — Disturbances in the ether caused by radiocasting are held by Dr. Helmuth Huserl, Viennese natural scientist and authority on whaling, now living here, to account for the scarcity of whales in the usually rich fishing grounds. On days when aerial traffic is slight whales are caught to treble the number of other hauls.

Another reason given for the whale migration is the movement of "crill," a small species of crab which comes to the surface in tens of thousands wherever plankton appears. "Crill"-fields are known to attract whales even from hundreds of miles away. The only way in which the whale can sense the existence of the "crill," since sight and hearing are excluded, is declared to be through the insulating medium of seawater which conducts the radiation emanating from "crill."

If this theory is correct, it is believed that by ascertaining the wavelengths of plankton it should be possible to equip whaling-boats with radio stations which could send on the same length and thus form a "bait" for the whale.

PRICES PLUNGE ON NEW YORK MARKET

New York, To-day.

FULL IMPACT OF THE most serious international crisis in more than 20 years was felt at the opening of the markets here yesterday on the Stock Exchange.

Prices tumbled sharply under the deluge of selling orders and losses ranged as high as five points or more in the initial dealing.

At 11 a.m., after opening, the following stocks were quoted at:

U.S. Steel 43.38 (down 2-3/4); General Motors 41 1/2 (down 2-1/8); Chrysler 72 1/2 (down 5-5/8); American Rubber 35 1/2 (down 3-1/8).

In the commodity markets, so-called war commodities showed sharp rises, rubber and hides moving rapidly upwards and grain markets in Chicago opening with limit gains of 5 per cent. per bushel.

In the foreign exchange market sterling opened at $4.20 compared with $4.33-3/4 yesterday, all rates being very nominal.—Reuter.

LONDON MARKETS AT A STANDSTILL

London, To-day.

The outbreak of hostilities between Germany and Poland brought business to a standstill in those markets which remained open yesterday.
In the foreign exchange market, sterling closed nominally at 4.19 in terms of the dollar compared with 4.285 overnight but little business was transacted.

Wall Street was easy.—Reuter.

EPSTEIN'S ADAM SLASHED

Epstein's Adam, on exhibition in Blackpool, has been slashed.

Five marks have appeared on Adam's leg, done, it is thought, by somebody who tried to get a chipping as a souvenir.

Epstein will visit Blackpool to discuss the £15,000 statue of Eve which has been commissioned.

Danzig, To-day.

The League High Commissioner, Dr.
Buckhardt, has left Danzig with his staff.—Reuter.

FIFTEEN BILLS RUSHED THROUGH HOUSE.

London, To-day.

At the conclusion of the war debate, the Commons was faced with financial resolutions and 15 bills, all of which had to be passed last night.

Most important were the resolution extending the Government credit by £500,000,000, the Currency Defence Bill to amend the law regarding the Exchange Equalisation Account, and to make postal orders, and certain banknotes temporarily legal tender in the event of a shortage, and to remove the present limit of £55,- 000,000 as the amount which might be issued to the Exchequer Account.

Other bills apply the Prize Law to aircraft and amend the enactments relating to prizes, control the import, export and carriage of certain goods,
and forbid dealing with the enemy.—
Reuter.

TAUBER LOSES HIS VOICE

While giving a concert in Copenhagen, Richard Tauber, the Austrian tenor, suddenly became hoarse and lost his voice. He rested for some time, but later had it announced that it was impossible for him to sing any more.

BRITISH ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY

FULL TEXT OF BRITAIN'S NOTE TO HERR HITLER

LONDON, TO-DAY.

A BRITISH ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY, TO CEASE AGGRESSIVE ACTION AT ONCE AND WITHDRAW ITS TROOPS FROM POLAND, OR FACE WAR WITH GREAT BRITAIN, WAS ANNOUNCED BY MR. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS LAST EVENING.

The House and Galleries were crowded when the session began at 6 o'clock last evening, and the Prime Minister was loudly cheered on entering. The Prime Minister's first words as he rose in the hushed House were: "I do not propose to say many words to-night. The time has come for action rather than speech.

"Eighteen months ago I prayed that the responsibility might not fall upon me to ask this country to accept the awful arbitrament of war.

"I fear I may not be able to avoid that responsibility. But I would not wish for conditions clearer than they are to-day as to where my duty lies. (Cheers).

"We have not neglected any means of making it crystal clear to the German Government that if they insisted on using force again in the manner in which they have used it in the past, we were resolved to oppose them by force.

"Now that all the relevant documents are being made public we shall stand at the bar of history knowing that the responsibility for this terrible catastrophe lies on the shoulders of one man (loud cheers).

"The German Chancellor has not hesitated to plunge the world into misery to serve his own senseless ambitions." (Loud cheers).

THE CORRESPONDENCE

After thanking the House for the forbearance they had shown in not demanding from him information while negotiations were still in progress, Mr. Chamberlain referred to the publication of the correspondence with the German Government, which, he said, made it perfectly clear that our object had been to try and bring about discussions about the Polish-German dispute between the two countries themselves on terms of equality, (cheers) the settlement to be one which safeguarded the independence of Poland and secured its due observance by international guarantee.

"There is just one passage in the communication dated August 30 which I would like to quote, because it shows how easily a final clash might have been avoided if there had been the least desire on the part of the German Government to arrive at a peaceful settlement.

BID FOR PEACE

"In this document we said: 'His Majesty's Government fully recognise the need for speed in inflating discussion and they share the apprehension of the Chancellor from the proximity of two mobilised armies standing face to face, and they would accordingly most strongly urge that both parties should undertake during the negotiations - that no aggressive military movement will take place.

"His Majesty's Government feel confident that they can obtain such an undertaking from the Polish Government if the German Government will give a similar undertaking."

POLAND ACCEPTED

"That telegram brought an instantaneous reply from the Polish Government on August 31, in which the Polish Government said they were prepared on a reciprocal basis to give a guarantee that in the event of negotiations taking place, Polish troops would not violate the frontier of the German Reich, providing a corresponding guarantee was given by the Germans.

"We have never had a reply from the German Government to the suggestion which, if it had been followed, might have saved the catastrophe which took place this morning."

PROPOSALS NEVER SENT

Mr. Chamberlain then referred to the German broadcast on Thursday night and a sentence therein - "in these circumstances the Reich Government considers its proposals rejected."

Mr. Chamberlain said that these proposals had never been communicated by Germany to Poland.

Mr. Chamberlain added that on August 29 the German Government said they would draw up proposals for a solution acceptable to themselves, and would if possible place these proposals in the hands of the British Government before the arrival of the Polish negotiator.

VIOLENT TERMS

"We were awaiting these proposals and our Ambassador urged Herr von Ribbentrop to invite the Polish Ambassador to call so that Herr von Ribbentrop could hand him the proposals for communication to his Government.

"Thereupon in most violent terms, Herr von Ribbentrop said he would never ask the Ambassador to visit him, and he hinted that if the Polish Ambassador asked him for an interview it might be different."

In a sentence which was not clearly audible, the Prime Minister appeared to say that the position seemed to be that Germany claimed to treat Poland as in the wrong for not entering into negotiations with Germany about proposals which Poland had never heard of!

LIGHTS OUT ORDER IN ENGLAND

London, To-day.
A "Lights Out" Order comes into effect throughout Britain as from sunset to-night.
All lights inside buildings must be obscured and all outside lights extinguished, except where essential for the conduct of work of vital national importance.—
Reuter.

"The proper course in our view was that these proposals should have been put before Poland, who should have been given time to consider them and say whether they infringed her vital interests, which Germany had assured us previously she intended to respect.

EQUAL BASIS

"The Polish Ambassador saw Herr von Ribbentrop last night and told him that Poland would negotiate on an equal basis.

"Germany's reply to that was that German troops had crossed the Polish frontier this morning at dawn and were since reported to be bombing open towns.

"In these circumstances there is only one course open to us. (Loud cheers).

AN INCOMPLETE PURSUER FLEET

The Fiat CR 32, "world famed and constantly shot down": this is the statement contained in a confidential note of the Intelligence Service of the Ebro General Staff, with regard to the small pursuer imported into Spain in large numbers by the Axis. During the first fortnight of September 1938, 773 of these machines took part in the campaign of the Ebro. As a matter of fact, 200 have been shot down in the war. But notwithstanding these losses, the Fiat pursuer reckons, on account of its flexibility, as the best German-Italian type, which, together with the German ME 109, constitutes a valuable unit in modern air warfare. At an altitude of 300 metres, a 550 HP Fiat engine (type A 30 R.A.) produces a top speed of 340 km. per hour. The fact that the modern fast bombers exceed this speed (HE III by 20 km. and BR 20 by 50 km.) makes it possible to classify the CR 32 among the first class types of super-pursuer defenders. But in this role, this machine was indispensable in Spain, despite the fact that it was often shot down, that its engines run hot if its cooler was hit by the enemy artillery. For the other small pursuer types imported into Spain by German and Italy in no wise attain the quality of the CR 32.

Both Heinkel HE 51 and Romeo RO 41, with their 330-335 km. per hour are not only slower by 50-60 km., but their armament of two machine guns is far inferior to that of the CR 32. And then, their climbing capacity is mediocre. (HE 51 climbs 200 meters in 3 minutes one second, RO 41 in 2 minutes 45 seconds). The three other German pursuer planes in Germany (Heinschel, Heinkel HE 45 and HE 112) and the two Italian pursuers (CR

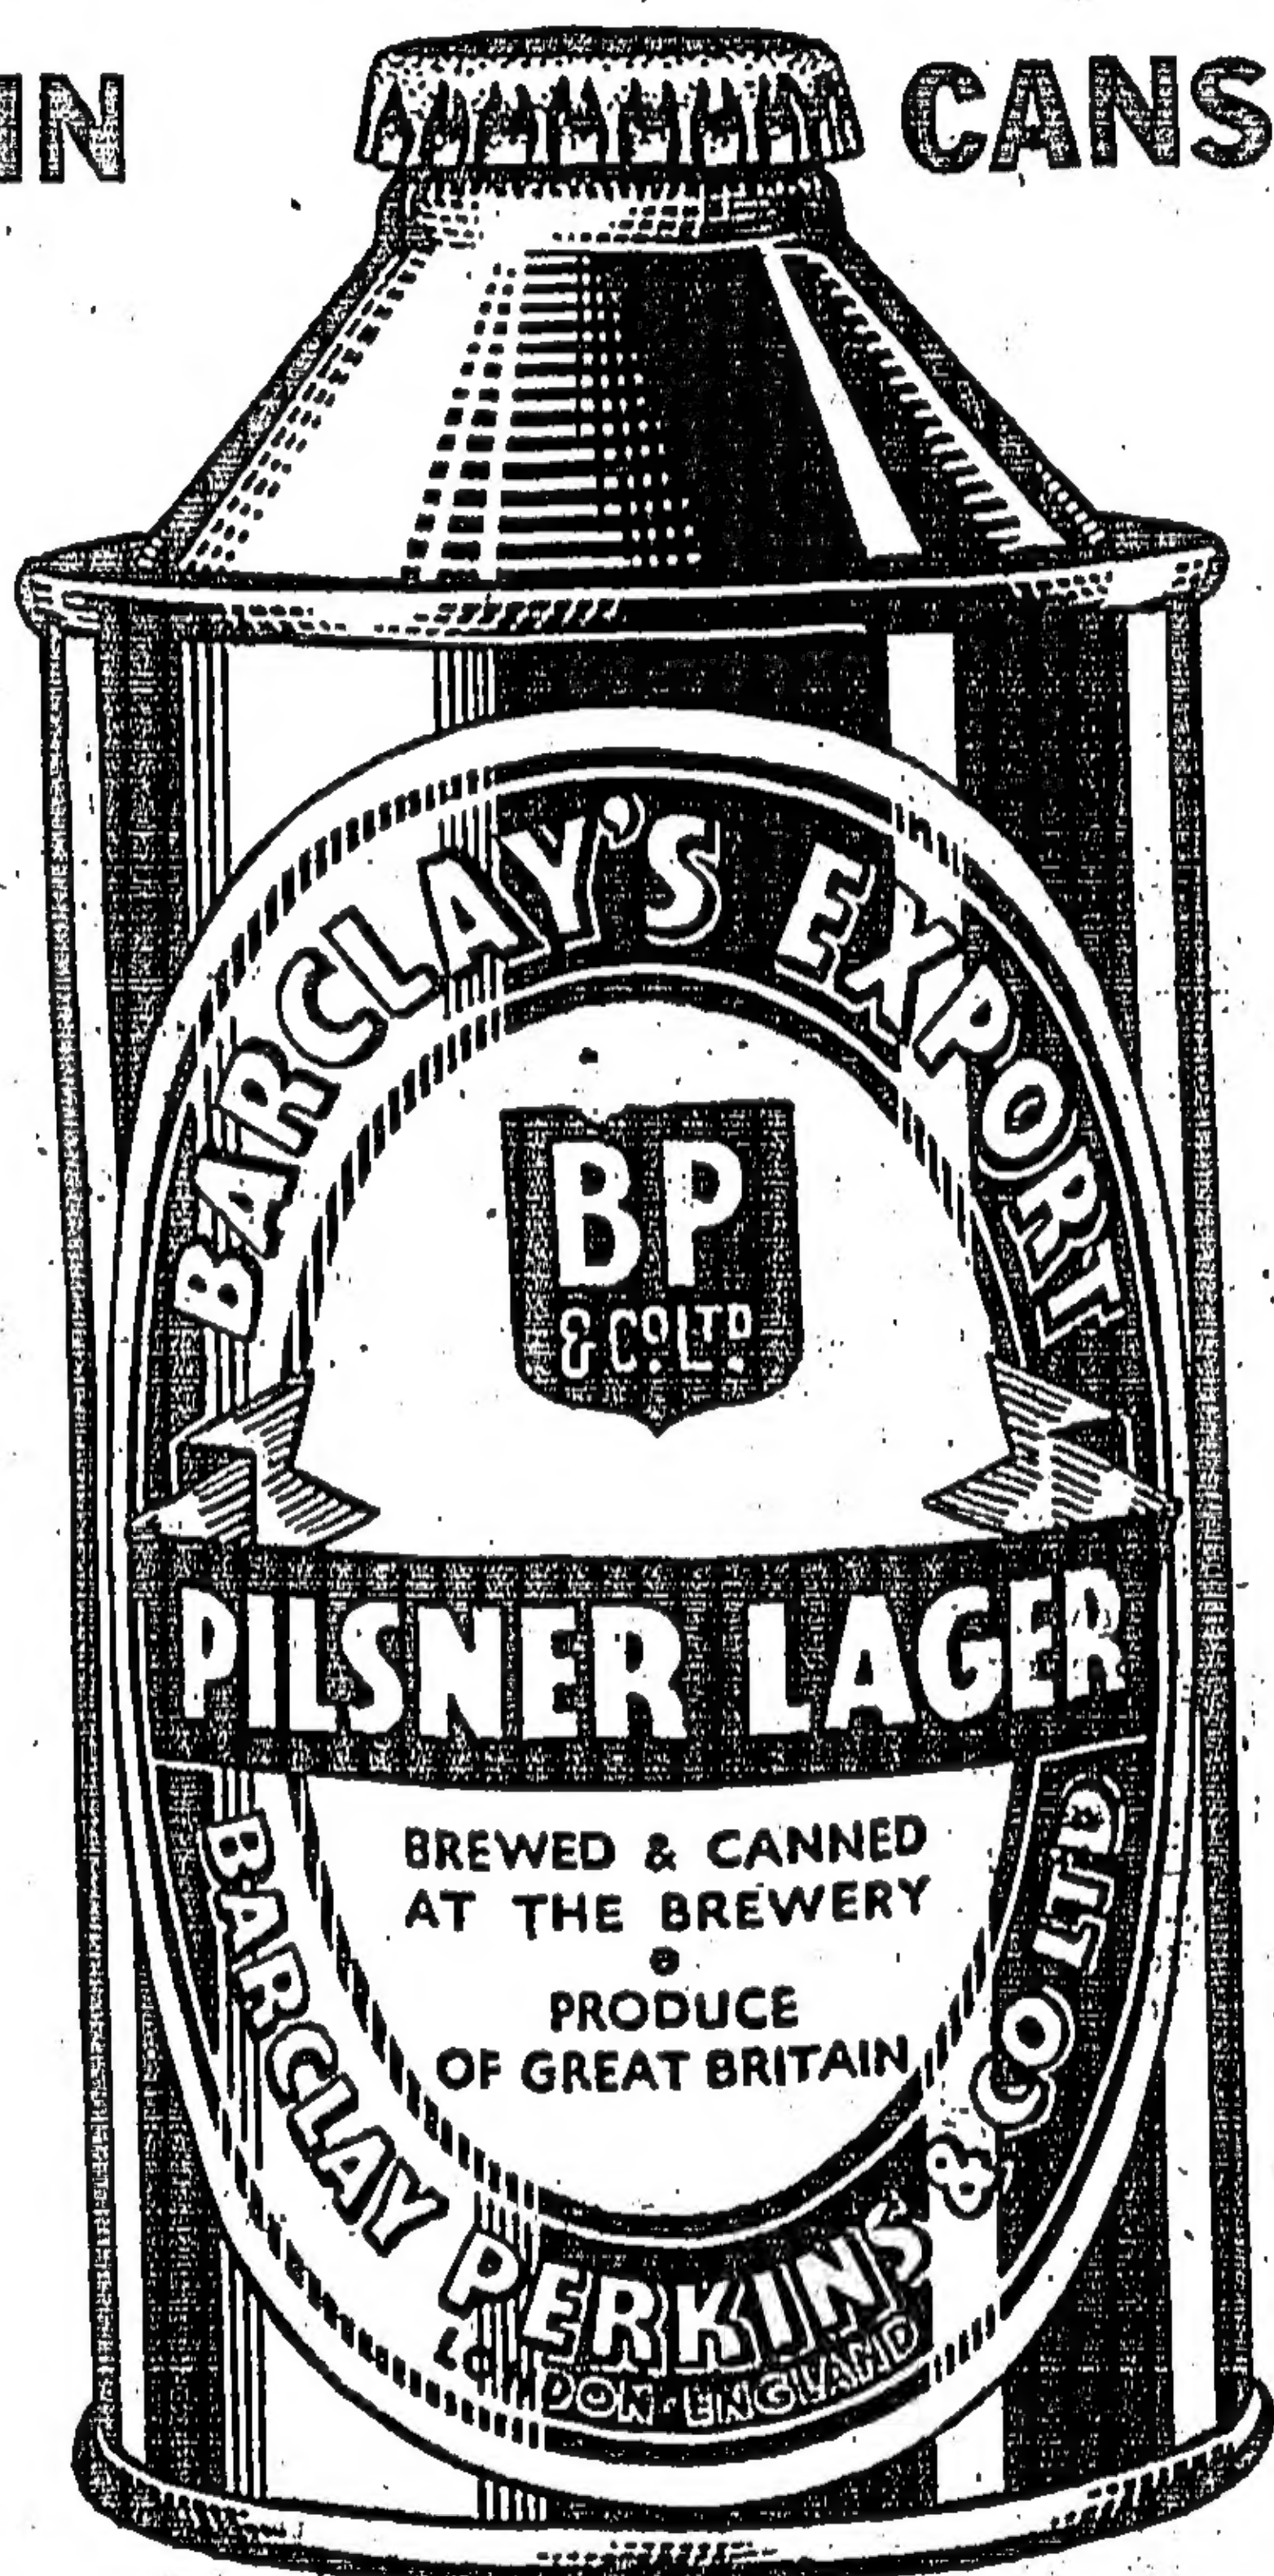

CR32: Fiat pursuer—the best small pursuer.

41 and RO 37) whose top speed does not exceed 300 km. per hour, have proved completely unsuitable for modern air warfare. These types were finally withdrawn during the last year of the war to the less exposed sections of the south Spanish front. Germany has therefore no first class pursuers for the defence of her super-pursuer ME 109, and Italy, who up to now has produced no first class super-pursuer, possesses the best small pursuers, but has no modern defensive armament for her bombers. The thirty months of modern air warfare in Spain have taught the lesson that, although Italy possesses the prototypes of the modern bomber required by Germany for a so-called "total war", the partners of the Axis are still completely dependent upon formation, that a certain political and reciprocal distrust has led each of the military partners to take certain measures of precaution. During the last weeks of the Catalonian campaign Italy introduced a new type into Spain, which may in circumstances, outclass the German super-pursuer ME 109. This Italian machine is the Fiat G 50. It is related that the G 50 has a top speed of 470 km. per hour (only less by 10 km. than the German super-pursuer ME 109), and with its cruising speed of 420 km. per hour outclasses the German machine by 10 km. Its landing speed of 118 km. is, however, higher by 28 km. than that of the German type, which increase the perils of an improvised landing. To prevent the destruction of its petrol reservoirs, the latter are distri-each other in the event of a war at present. For the German ME 109 and the Italian CR 32—for Germany and Italy indispensable elements of a modern pursuers' fleet—are linked together like the Siamese twins: Berlin has one twin and Rome the other. To renounce the super-pursuer would result in disproportionately high losses in a modern war as regards bombers, and to renounce the small pursuer prototype would entail heavy losses in respect of super-pursuers. The much talked about interdependence of the Axis partners would therefore seem to be absolutely necessary for the present from a military point of view. But was it not Berlin and Rome's desire to become autarkical, each of them stronger than the democracies?

AIR AUTARKY DESIRED

There is nothing surprising in the fact that, both in Italy and Germany, notwithstanding official friendship, each of the partners aims at air autarky, for it is clear from recent in-buted in four different places, two behind the engine and two in the centre of the wings. The reduction of weight, owing to the soldering of a metal body enables it to carry an increased number of hand grenades. Can the Italian G 50 replace the German super-pursuer? In this case, Italy would be assured of her air independence, and Germany's air fleet, which is far inferior to the Italian from the point of view of quality, would lose its sole superiority, namely that of the super-pursuers. But G 50 has not yet undergone its test. The first impressions of G 50, during the last days of the Catalonian campaign as reported to the military observers, were not very favourable.

But Germany also has produced a new pursuer in the light of the experience of the Spanish war. It is already manufactured in series and is known as the Heinkel HE 112. This model, which had mishap after mishap at the beginning of the war, has

BRITAIN'S DRAMATIC ATTEMPT TO SAVE DISASTER ON LAST DAY OF AUGUST

London, To-day.

THE CORRESPONDENCE between Britain and Germany was issued in the form of a White Paper last night.

An explanatory note shows that a dramatic attempt was made to save the situation on the last day of August.

Britain, replying to Germany on August 28, made suggestions for direct discussions between Germany and Poland, and informed Germany, on Poland's authorisation, that Poland was ready at once to enter into direct discussions with Germany.

A written German reply to this communication was handed to Sir Neville Henderson (our Ambassador in Berlin) on August 29, and "quite apart from the complete distortion of the events leading up to the crisis," the reply demanded the arrival in Berlin of a Polish emissary with full powers during the course of August 30.

Britain's second reply was communicated at midnight on August 30 to Herr von Ribbentrop (the Nazi Foreign Minister), whose answer was to produce a long document which was read out rapidly in German.

This was apparently the 16-point plan which Germany has since published.

TOO LATE!

When Sir Neville Henderson asked for the text of these proposals, Herr von Ribbentrop asserted that it was now too late as the Polish plenipotentiary had not arrived by midnight.

Poland, on learning of these developments, informed Britain during the afternoon of August 31 that they would authorise their Ambassador, Count Lipski, to state that Poland had accepted the British proposals for negotiations.

Count Lipski was not received by Herr von Ribbentrop until the evening of August 31, and after the interview, the Germans broadcast their proposals forthwith.

CONTACT IMPOSSIBLE

Count Lipski immediately tried to establish contact with Warsaw but was unable to do so because all means of communication between Poland and Germany had been closed by Germany.

The correspondence begins with a letter from Mr. Chamberlain to Hitler on August 22, in which Mr. Chamberlain warned the Nazi leader that whatever might prove to be the nature of the German-Soviet agreement it could not alter Britain's obligation to Poland, which the Government was determined to fulfil.

IF WAR STARTED

Mr. Chamberlain further said it would be a dangerous illusion to think that if war once started it would come to an early end, even if success was secured on one of the several fronts on which it would be engaged.

Mr. Chamberlain expressed the conviction that a war between the British and German peoples would be the greatest calamity that could occur.

It was desired by neither people, and he urged a truce to press polemics and all incitement, during which time steps could be taken to deal with complaints from either side as regards the treatment of minorities. — Reuter.

BRITISH ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY

THE ULTIMATUM

"The British and French Ambassadors in Berlin have been instructed to give the German Government the following document:

"Early this morning the German Chancellor issued a proclamation to the German army which indicated clearly that he was about to attack Poland.

"Information just received by the British and French Governments indicates that German troops have crossed the Polish frontier and that attacks are proceeding.

"In these circumstances it appears to the British and French Governments that by their action the German Government has created the conditions, namely, an aggressive act of force against Poland and threatening the independence of Poland, which call for implementation by the British and French Governments of the undertaking given by them to Poland to come to her assistance.

"I am accordingly to inform your Excellency that unless the German Government is prepared to give His Majesty's Government satisfactory assurances that the German Government is to suspend all aggressive action against Poland, and are prepared promptly to withdraw their forces from Polish territory, His Majesty's Government will without hesitation fulfil their obligations."

IN THAT CASE, WE ARE READY

If the reply to this last warning is unfavourable and (Mr. Chamberlain told the House) "I do not suggest it is likely to be otherwise, the British Ambassador has been instructed to ask for his passport.

"In that case, we are ready."

Mr. Chamberlain then announced that our defence preparations had already been made public.

He added: "The thoughts of many of us must at this moment inevitably be turned back to 1914, and to a comparison of our position now and that which existed then.

"How do we stand at this time?"

"The answer is that all three Services are ready and the situation in all directions is far more favourable and reassuring than in 1914.

"The main and most satisfactory thing to observe is that there is no need for an appeal in a general way for recruits such as that issued by Lord Kitchener 25 years ago."

CONSCRIPTION DECISION

Turning to the future, Mr. Chamberlain said: "It is essential in the face of the tremendous task confronting us, more especially in view of our past experience, to organise our man-power this time upon as methodical, equitable and economic a basis as possible.

"The Government therefore proposes immediately to introduce legislation directed to that end."

A Bill, he said, would be laid before the House which, for all practical purposes, would amount to extension of the Military Training Act, and all fit men between the ages of 18 and 41 would be liable to military service.

Steps would be taken to ensure that manpower required for industry would not be taken away.

Mr. Chamberlain recorded the satisfaction of himself and the Government that throughout these last days of crisis, Signor Mussolini had also been doing his best for a solution. (Cheers).

"Now it remains for us to set our teeth and enter upon this struggle which we so earnestly have endeavoured to avoid, with determination to see it through to the end.

CLEAR CONSCIENCE

"We shall enter into it with a clear conscience, with the support of the Dominions and the British Empire and with the moral approval of the greater part of the world.

Finding he couldn't squeeze through the bars he dived down into his pool, came out wet and glistening, made the second attempt and slipped through.

A screaming woman brought keepers in a hurry, and "Buster" was again recaptured and returned to his home.

"We have no quarrel with the German people except that they allow themselves to be governed by the Nazi Government.

PLAIN SPEAKING

"As long as that government exists and pursues the methods which it so persistently has followed in the last two years, there can be no peace in Europe.

"We are resolved that these methods must come to an end, and if we can re-establish in the world the rules of good faith and the renunciation of force, then even the sacrifices entailed upon us would find their fullest justification."—Reuter.

MIRROR OF WORLD OPINION

THE DANZIG SECRET

The Free City of Danzig again moves to first place in the news today. It has never been entirely absent from the public mind since Hitler, in April last, denounced his agreement with Poland. What is happening? Our own Foreign Office does not yet know, and Paris and Warsaw are merely guessing. But no one need be criticised for ignorance of what is passing in the mind of the mystic of Berchtesgaden.—"Daily Mail."

GIVE US MORE

The French air-raid over Britain yesterday gave us invaluable lessons, and we shall profit by them. If tested the anti-aircraft defences of England over a wide area from Liverpool to our south coast, and the Air Ministry and War Office should now know where weakness exists. The French machines and pilots showed that excellence of craftsmanship and flying skill which we expect from them; they must now give us many more practice raids.—"Daily Mail."

THEY MAKE THE NEWS

Is there not a dangerous slide to this quietness of British and French diplomacy? By those who know the British and French peoples, such quietness may indeed be interpreted as a sign of strength and confidence. But the German Government, as all its recent propaganda shows, has but the smallest understanding of Britain and its people. It is only too likely to mistake composure for indifference.—"Daily Herald."

THE OLD GAME

In order to fix the idea firmly in German minds that the U.S.A. will not back the European democracies if and when, German newspapers are reprinting cartoons from the American Press attacking Britain. It is not stated that the cartoons were published in 1915.—"Reynolds News."

CHECKING THE ESTIMATES

The Select Committee on Estimates' recommendations for the reduction of departmental expenditure include a few items which are not likely to command a large body of public support—for example, its observation that the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research should aim at becoming self-supporting and its continued discouragement of expenditure of agricultural education.

But the criticisms of the level of administrative costs under the National Fitness Scheme, the observation that expenditure on the building up of goodwill for the Post Office has now gone far enough, and the recommendation of a further decentralisation of the administrative machinery of the Board of Education are both just and timely.—"Comment."

DANZIG DISCUSSIONS

There must be an end of intimidation and intimidatory propaganda which can only be met by increased preparations for self defence on the other side. One of the more satisfactory points of the last two days has been that a certain abatement of the abuse of Poland and Great Britain has been noticed in the German Press. Its fulminations have quite ceased to make any impression outside Germany, but the voice of common sense can be better heard when the clamour of propagandists is silent.—"The Times."

THE CHANCE

"There is one alternative. The other is world war. It is for you to choose. If you reject it, your blood be on your own heads.—Mr. A. Duff Cooper."

NUMBERING THE PEOPLE

It is altogether satisfactory to know that every arrangement, down to the last gaffer-button, is now complete for putting the National Register into instant operation. It would indeed, have been even more satisfactory if the application were to be immediate and not contingent; for then fulfilment would not depend so much on the term of indulgence which a hypothetical enemy may be pleased to allow.—"Daily Telegraph."

THIRTY BUSY MEN

There are thirty busy foreigners in Covent Garden Market. They are Italians, Germans, and Spaniards. Their job is to bring foreign fruit to Britain. And they are getting away with it. In the last three years the area under fruit in Britain has shrunk by 21,948 acres. Yet last year we imported 108,663 cwt more of foreign plums than in 1937, and 285,000 cwt more of foreign pears. So the thirty foreigners fruit farmers fade out.—"Daily Express."

PEACE AT STAKE

Whatever German propaganda may have done to unite the German people, German policy, as it is inspired and directed to day, has consolidated the British people to a degree which has never been surpassed. It is their honourable part to be the cornerstone of resistance to unbridled aggression, and whatever befall they will stand firm and implement their pledges to the world. They can do no other.—"Daily Telegraph."

THE DICTATOR LEAGUE

A non-aggression pact between Nazi Germany and Communist Russia means no political or ideological misfit. But it does mean a major upset for the calculations of the democracies, because too much hope had been built up on the illogical theory that the Russian strength could be turned anti-dictator, enlisted in the democratic camp.

Hitler has outmaneuvered the democracies. However, there is far more of the natural operating of political cause and effect than there is of cleverness on his part in the whole deal. The Stalin-controlled Russia, the biggest dictatorship of all time, has far more in common with the dictatorships than with the democracies. Every democratic spokesman who has paid him political court in recent months has known this practical fact all along, has been unable to get away from the embarrassment of this situation even when engaged in the most ardent wooing. No one can help realising that the delegates to the long-drawn-out conference in Moscow have been seriously handicapped by the lack of natural cordiality necessary for making a real success of such a meeting.—"Manilla Bulletin."

BRITAIN AND PEACE

The only obstacle in Europe to real peace is Britain's egotism. Chamberlain will never understand it, the Opposition will never understand it, and the English people who have understood it are not allowed to speak. Facts alone will make Britain listen to reason.

LAST RUN OF TWO PENNY TRAIN

London—A stage in the history of London's underground railways was marked recently when the last train of the original type "tube" made its last journey on the Central London line. Both driver and conductor were veterans in the Underground service, and the train and locomotive were near their fourth decade. One coach was actually in the train driven by King Edward VII when, as Prince of Wales, he opened the line in the year 1900.

What is now the Central London line was the first tube railway to be built, and it was known colloquially as "The Twopenny Tube" because 2d. was the flatrate fare for the whole or any part of the distance covered. It was said at its opening that one was "blown in at one end and shot out at the other," all for twopence.

It seemed so strangely clean with its electric propulsion and light. To those who remember the old Inner Circle with its steam trains, oil lamps, and sooty, sulphurous atmosphere, the tube seemed a marvel of comfort and cleanliness.

Now, London has a network of interconnecting tubes; the old elevators have given way to quickly-moving escalators; the passenger can get his ticket from a row of automatic machines; the latest rolling stock is the acme of comfort; station platforms are even now being lengthened to take longer trains; and tubes have been extended to serve districts which were open country when the old "twopenny" began its service.

M. MAISKY WILL BECOME DIPLOMAT NO. 1

Coming diplomatic changes will make M. Ivan Maisky, 55-year-old Soviet Ambassador, the senior member of the Diplomatic Corps in London.

Mme. Maisky will thus become chief authority on Court procedure, and will be consulted by the wives of other diplomats.

M. and Mme. Maisky have been here since 1932. Their home is in Kensington Palace Gardens—known as "Millionaires' Row."

First change is the impending transfer of the Brazilian Ambassador, Sir Raul Regis de Oliveira, who has received orders to return to Brazil in October. Sir Raul is in the early fifties and has been Brazilian Ambassador in London since 1925.

After he leaves, the senior diplomat will be the Belgian Ambassador, Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, who went to London in 1927, but he will be retiring on age limit—he is 67—at the end of the year.

It is 27 years since M. Maisky first went to England. He was a political refugee, had difficulty in getting past the immigration barriers at Newhaven because he had only £3 2s. in his pocket instead of the regulation £5.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

Subject: "Man"

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches tomorrow Sept. 3rd will be "Man."

The Golden Text will be:—"God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him." (Gen. 1:27).

Among others, the following citations will be read from the Bible:—"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. Surely men of low degree are vanity, and men of high degree are a lie: to be laid in the balance, they are altogether lighter than vanity. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God." (Gen. 1: 1, 26; Ps. 62: 9; Rom. 8: 16).

The following citations will also be read from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:—"Man: God's Spiritual idea, individual, perfect, eternal. In Science we are children of God; but whatever is of material sense, or mortal, belongs not to His children, for materiality is the inverted image of Spirituality. Even though you aver that the material senses are indispensable to man's existence or entity, you must change the human concept of life and must at length know yourself spiritually and scientifically. As mortals give up the delusion that there is more than one Mind, more than one God, man in God's likeness will appear, and this eternal man will include in that likeness no material element." (Pages 115, 572, 359 & 191).

RELICS OF GOLD AGE FOUND IN SWEDEN

Stockholm.

Three gold circlets believed to date from A. D. 500 have been found in the western part of Central Sweden. This is the first important archaeological find in this district.

The period to which the circlets are attributed is known to Swedish archaeologists as the Gold Age because of the number of gold objects of similar date that have been found, but this discovery is remarkable because of the amount of gold the circlets contain. Their fine workmanship also adds to their value.

The ornaments were turned up from under a stone slab by the owner of a farm who may now claim the gold value of his find when it is handed over to the State collections.

FOX IS THE "HUNT" BANDS PET. — An unusual lucky mascot for a band is that of the Melton Mowbray Tally-Ho Carnival Band at Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire. Here, in the heart of the fox-hunting country, Mr. Harley, a postman and the fox, the official mascot, lead the band along the streets. A band of people, dressed in hunting pink and led by a fox is a very strange sight and causes a great attraction to passers-by. Mr. Harley obtained the fox from a farmer and since he was adopted by the band, he has meant good luck. (Copyright, Fox).

RAILWAY QUEEN'S "TRAIN" OF DOGS. — Britain's Railway Queen, Miss Helen Forest, the daughter of an Edinburgh engine driver, is on a visit to Switzerland to secure another link in the chain of friendship which the railwaymen's Queens' Movement is forging. This picture shows Miss Forrest when she visited the Jungfrau-Joch, Europe's highest mountain railway. Photo shows Britain's Railway Queen sits in the "cabin" during a journey with a team of Polar dogs on one of the glaciers. (Copyright, Fox).

RE'S IN LIFEJACKETS. — Wearing their lifejackets, men of the 50th. Northumberland Division Royal Engineers from the Newcastle area, practising handling pontoon bridges on the River Lune, during their camp at Halton, Lancashire. (Copyright, Fox).

OF NURSING.—A pageant showing how the science has developed since the foundation of the Hospital in Jerusalem eight and a half centuries ago, was held in the City church St. Magnus the Martyr, in Lower London. The pageant shows characters in the pageant walking along on their way to the church of St. Magnus the Martyr. The pageant can be seen 'Florence Nightingale' and the 'Knight of the Cross' (St. Fox).

AND BABY—AT HOME. — Little Joanna Stevenson, the film director and his actress, has now taken an interest in the gardening and is here with her mother busy in the garden at their home at Highgate (right, Fox).

SWISS ARE READY FOR ANY ATTACK

Switzerland is determined that in the event of war in Europe no Power will use her as Belgium was used by Germany in the last war.

Thorough preparations have now been made to meet a sudden attack and any invading army moving on to Swiss soil would meet with a violent and well-planned resistance.

Military experts, both Swiss and foreign, say that any invasion of the country would cost the invader far more than victory would be worth.

To the south the Alpine passes are bristling with fortifications. On the St. Gotthard, a whole mountain has been hollowed out and converted into an impregnable citadel commanding the one approach from Italy.

White-clad Alpine patrols on skis, invisible against the snow, know every inch of the ground and could machine-gun attackers with the great-

GREAT BRITAIN BADLY BEATEN BY GERMANY

Failure To Secure A Single Event Outright

British Athletes Enthusiastically Received By Crowd

COLOGNE, AUGUST 21.—Germany beat Great Britain of 93½ points to 42½ in the athletic contest, which was watched by about 60,000 people here to-day.

Great Britain did not win a single event outright, though T. L. Lockton dead-heated for first place in the 110 metres hurdles. At the end of the race it was officially announced that Lockton was the winner, and in the printed list of results circulated Lockton was given as winning by about 18 inches. This was later corrected to a dead-heat.

D. B. Pell was beaten in the 1500 metres by inches by L. Kaindl, but both were given the same times — 3 mins. 50 2-10 secs., beating the previous German record of 3 mins. 51 secs. held by Dr. Otto Peltzer.

The British athletes were received with enthusiastic hand-clapping as they marched in, dressed in white. The Germans were dressed in dark brown.

Lord Burleigh was among the spectators, his foot in plaster as the result of a recent injury.

Herr Ritter von Halt, a member of the Olympic Committee, made a speech greeting the British team and Lord Burleigh. He was heartily applauded when he emphasised the sporting comradeship between the two nations.

The crowd gave the Nazi salute when "God Save the King" and the German National Anthem and the Horst Wessel song were played. Neither team saluted. The crowd joined in the singing of "Deutschland über Alles" and the Nazi song.

BROWN FINISHES LAST

Rudolf Harbig, the German world record holder, won the 400 metres. A. Pennington gained second place for Great Britain, but A. G. K. Brown could do no better than finish last.

This race caused a good stir among the spectators, and there was loud applause when Brown and Harbig shook hands just before the start.

The runners got away to a good start, and the crowd rose to its feet yelling with excitement as they turned into the straight with Pennington and Harbig about level. In the final straight, however, Harbig drew decisively away and won by about four yards in 46 9-10 secs.

There was a great thrill in the 1500 metres, in which Kaindl beat Pell. The Englishman was leading until the last couple of yards, but was beaten by inches. Kaindl led up to 1000 metres, but Pell went ahead and a thrilling duel began. In the final sprint Pell seemed to be a certain winner, but a couple of yards from the finish he seemed to slacken off. Kaindl shot

Quarter-Mile Title

London, August 21. — Defeating A. Sharp, Dundee Whitehall (holder), J. Hutchison, Glasgow Victoria Baths, carried off the Scottish men's 440 yards free-style championship at a swimming gala held at Arbroath Bathing Pool on Saturday.

Hutchison, who recently defeated Sharp in the International trials at Burntisland, covered the distance in 5 mins 26 secs, three seconds outside the Scottish record. Sharp was runner-up in 5 mins 40 3-5 secs, and 15-year-old Bert Kinnear, Arbroath St Thomas, who is at present the only Scottish holder of the Olympic three-grade badge finished third in 5 mins 46 1-5 secs.

Whilst taking out Blue Diamond for its exercise this morning, Mr. A. W. Raymond had the misfortune to be unseated near the winning post. He immediately got up, however, caught the pony, remounted and went for a mile gallop in company with another pony.

(Germany), 7.10 metres; 3, W. E. N. Breach (Great Britain), 7.0 metres.

5000 Metres:—1, F. Schaumburg (Germany), 14 mins. 40 2-10ths secs.; 2, (tie), C. A. J. Emery (Great Britain), 14 mins. 40 4-10ths secs.; and R. Fellermaier (Germany), 14 mins. 40 4-10ths secs.

Pole Vault:—1, R. Gloetzer (Germany), 4.10 metres (13 ft. 5 1/2 ins.); 2, J. Hainzwick (Germany), 4.2 metres; 3, H. W. Yelder (Great Britain), 3.80 metres.

1600 Metres Relay (400, 200, 200, 500 metres):—Germany (Harbig, Scheuring, Hornberger, and W. Brandschelt), 3 mins. 22 secs.; Great Britain (Pennington, Sweeney, Brown, and B. F. McCabe), 3 mins. 24 6-10ths secs.

CHINESE Y.M.C.A. SWIMMING GALA - THIS EVENING

CHINESE Y.M.C.A. are holding a swimming gala in their pool at Bridges Street this evening. A splendid programme has been arranged, included in which are several open events.

Event which will attract a great deal of attention will be the 120 yards open medley relay race in which Chinese Y.M.C.A., South China, Victoria Recreation Club and Chung Shing Benevolent Society have entered.

V.R.C. will be without the services of D. H. Taylor, holder of the Colony 50 yards free style record, but will be fully represented otherwise.

Hong Kong's leading swimmer, Wilfred Lawrence, will be on view and his presence is certain to prove a great attraction.

The programme and entries are as follows:—

120 yards Medley Relay (Open to the Colony):—Chinese Y.M.C.A.; South China; V.R.C. and Chung Sing Benevolent Society.

100 metres Back Stroke (Open to the Colony):—Lau Yiu-ting (Lai Tsun Swimming Union), A. K. Rumjahn (V.R.C.), Shek Kam-pui (South China) and So Tim-mo (Chung Sing).

200 metres Breast Stroke (Open to the Colony):—Fong Chung-yu (Lai Tsun); J. Marques (V.R.C.); Ho Pun-kun (South China) and Lo Kut-sing (Chung Sing).

Members "A" Class 80 yards Free Style:—Cheung Kwong-yiu, Fong Wah, Kam Kun-shan and Lau Yiu-tin.

Members "A" Class 80 yards Back Stroke:—Kong Wing-kan, Fong Wah, Kam Kun-shan and Lau Yiu-tin.

100 yards Consolation Race Free Style.

It's the mellowness of BOOTH'S Dry Gin that makes it so much to be desired in cocktails. Such mellowness comes only from treble distillation and maturing in sherry casks and BOOTH'S DRY is the only GIN which receives such care in its making. It is not to be wondered at that the 1st prize Cocktail in the International Cocktail Competition was made with Booth's Dry.

SKIP'S LAWN BOWLS NOTES

2ND DIVISION TITLE TO BE DECIDED TO-DAY?

With the First Division championship virtually in Club de Recreio's possession again, chief interest this week is in the race for promotion which is going on in the Second League.

The Hong Kong Football Club and Talkoo are the most favourably placed teams but Craigengower are still quite handy and can overtake both of them and to-day may settle it.

The Hong Kong Football Club have to visit the Kowloon Football and if they win, promotion is theirs, whatever happens in the remaining matches. Should they lose, and I think they will do so by a small margin, then the Talkoo Club, if they win, as I fully anticipate will go to the top with 20 points.

CRAIGENGOWER TASK

Craigengower have no easy game at Kowloon Tong but I think they can pull it off which would leave them with only the Civil Servants to beat in a home match, to tie Talkoo.

It is an intriguing position and a play off would be a great match to see if it eventuates.

The other match in this League is between the Kowloon Bowling Green Club and the Police at Austin Road and I fancy the homesters to win comfortably. I have put the cart before the horse so to speak, by dealing with the Second Division before the premier one.

The most interesting game in this should be that between the Indians and the Kowloon Cricket Club at Sookunpoo. After their defeat last week the Mainlanders will be very anxious to rehabilitate themselves, but they will have to be at their best to do so. They may just do it.

The Champions receive the Kowloon Bowling Green Club and I can foresee no other result than a win for the Portuguese team, especially as the match is at King's Park and they have already won at Austin Road.

CIVIL SERVANTS TO WIN

The Kowloon Dock team does not appear to be too strong this week and the Civil Servants may repeat their previous success, by a few shots. Craigengower should win quite easily against Club de Recreio "B" and so sustain their challenge to the Kowloon Cricket Club as runners-up.

In the Third Division (where all the fun and friendliness is), the Kowloon Figures in brackets denotes score in previous match.

Bowling Green Club may be expected to secure their revenge for their defeat at Stanley in their previous encounter. The Yacht Club will be hard put to it to hold the Club de Recreio, even at Chater Road, but the two other home teams, Hong Kong Football Club against their Kowloon opposites, and Craigengower against the Electricians, should win quite comfortably.

FRIGIDAIRE

Gives You the Utmost in Food Storage Convenience

NOTE THE CENTRALLY LOCATED SUPER FREEZER

In this position the efficient Frigidaire Super Freezer does a better refrigerating job and permits plenty of room on either side for foods and bottled goods. It's also easier to keep clean.

HIGH, WIDE AND HANDSOME

Frigidaire's shelf space is up front, within easy reach. No fumbling to find or obtain what you want. The food compartment is full width, full height, too. Not an inch of waste space in the Frigidaire cabinet!

FULL-WIDTH SLIDING SHELVES

Give extra space for food, permit easier storage or removal. Bars are closely spaced to prevent bottles or containers from tipping. New automatic locks prevent shelves from sliding all the way out. But if you want to remove them, a slight upward lift, and out they slide.

Let this name-plate guide you to the finest in refrigeration.

HOME RUGBY CLUB PROSPECTS

KENDAL

From Kendal come some formidable statistics which are eloquent of the keenness of the officials. It is almost frightening to think that since 1905-6 Kendal have scored 11,410 points to 5,505. In the same period they have won 420 home games and lost seventy-two, and for the last ten seasons the figures are 174 and thirteen respectively. The undoubted fact that Kendal are very difficult to beat on their own ground makes the visit of Headingley on October 7 one of particular interest.

Headingley were last there in 1936, when they were beaten by 13-0. Langholm, the Border club, are new visitors this season, for which A. Johnson and T. Langhorn are doubtful starters, owing to injuries. A newcomer is C. E. B. Edmunds, a wing three-quarter, who has played for London University, Penzance, and Cornwall.

Rugby clubs in Westmorland are gratified by the new designation of the county championship team as "Cumberland and Westmorland," as since 1906 Westmorland players have made 499 appearances in the side known as Cumberland. The local enthusiasm in and around Kendal is an example to many clubs.

NORTHERN

New members of Northern are T. A. Garge, of Manchester, Old Leysians and Lancashire, a sterling forward, and J. Wilkie, the Hillhead High School hooker, who has three inter-city caps for Glasgow. Northern, who have a membership of 650, are beginning their third season on the new ground which they have bought. They lose, by retirement their Scottish international forward, W. F. Blackadder, and C. P. B. Goldson, who has done great service for Durham County.

Northern lost only a quarter of their 28 matches last year, and face confidently a fixture list which includes St. Bartholomew's Hospital, Old Blues and Edinburgh University. Northumberland County are, naturally enough, strongly represented among the officers of the club; A. Robson, the old England forward is President for the second year; A. Dickinson, the county centre is captain, the vice-captain is W. Lodge—centre for the county but able to play scrum-half of wing as well—and a former Northumberland forward, H. Thornton, is the new Hon. Secretary.

LENSBURY

An excellent example of club loyalty comes from Lensbury, who are losing the services in the pack of E. G. Frot, who has been playing since 1927, but gaining his help as assistant secretary to P. J. Shaw, who has guided their destinies since the club was formed in 1920. P. S. Attwood, forward, and D. E. C. Coleman, centre, will not be available until the second half of the season owing to Militia duties, but, otherwise, there are no gaps, and that very clever stand-off half, G. S. Darlington is again captain, with T. Scholfield, an experienced hooker, as vice-captain.

Until Coleman returns, his place will be filled, probably, by either J. Moore or C. R. Tice, both of whom have shown good form for the "A." Richmond Extra first are being met for the first time, but otherwise the fixture-list remains as usual, and an attempt will be made to maintain last season's fine record.

CARLISLE

Whatever clubs have been adversely affected by the trend of recent events Carlisle is not one of them. Great Rugby activity is already reported from the R.A.F. and Militia camps in the neighbourhood and playing recruits to the club and extra fixtures seem certain. Carlisle, who last season won 17 matches out of 25, have only two losses of personnel to record; Robinson, the hooker, has dropped out of the game and Bancroft, a wing forward, is commissioned to the R.A.F.

Against this may be set the fact that T. J. Cowen, the Oxford Blue, and A. O. Brogden, of Tynedale and Northumberland, will be available, and they should strengthen the outsiders. There is also a possibility that a still more famous player of Northern associations may play in some matches.

ROCKCLIFF

L. R. Jones, who played on the wing for Northumberland last season, is the new captain of Rockcliff. This club is included in the Old Blues' North-Eastern tour, and fixtures have been renewed with Northern and Durham City.

Much is hoped for from several of the younger men, who have given the impression that they were ripe for promotion, and these should get their chance, as W. Mayhew, for many years a county forward, has reached the stage when he is likely to retire. There are one of two other losses, including that of W. H. Storey, a consistently good centre, who is now in the Militia.

TEIGNMOUTH

Local juniors are to have their chance at Teignmouth, who have lost the services of A. R. Scragg. He has gone to banking employment in Cornwall. Lewis, a centre three-quarter from Buckfastleigh, is expected to make good, but the trials may bring some important developments.

The first match is against Plymouth Albion at Beacon Park on September 2—an exacting test indeed—and Bridgwater instead of Camborne is a change in the programme. Matches are renewed with Paignton after the lapse of some seasons.

THANET WANDERERS

Thanet Wanderers, who were founded as long ago as 1887, had a fine record last season, and will again be captained by T. C. Cobb, with D. Stevens as vice-captain. Moreover, Talbot, formerly of St. Mary's Hospital, Layton, Lydgate, a fine roving forward, and Vicary will again be turning out, and although, in view of national claims, it is not certain whether it will be possible to run two fifteens regularly, there are at any rate, capable reserves for the first.

There is a fixture with Charlton Park on Easter Monday, and another new match is against Hastings and Bexhill at Ramsgate on April 3. Regular rivals in the neighbourhood are Dover, Maidstone, Chislehurst, R.A.F. Manston, and Canterbury.

REDRUTH

There is one probable chance in the constitution of the Redruth XV for this season, which might almost be said to mark the end of an epoch, so long has Roy Jennings rendered stalwart service to the club. Now

"BOBBY" LOCKE GOES HOME

London, August 18. — A. D. Locke, South African Open champion, and one of the world's best professionals at 21, has travelled about 100,000 miles in the past six years, playing golf in Europe, Africa, Australia, and New Zealand. Now he wants a rest, and he sailed from Southampton yesterday in the Cape Town Castle to spend the winter in his native land.

What Locke describes as a "rest" would appear to be hard work to a less energetic youth. Before he went on board he talked about his plans—of competing in the Western Province championship a few days after he lands, and of defending his title in the South African Open championship next April. In the intervening months Locke has a big programme partly mapped out, but he is already anticipating another visit to Great Britain next summer.

"After the South African Open I intend to leave for Britain to have another go at the British championship," he said. "I tried desperately hard to win it at St. Andrews last month, but two bad holes spoilt my chance. I think I played fine golf, but one must have all the luck that is going to win so big an event. I do not despair of doing so, and I live for the chance to make another attempt next year."

HENRY COTTON MATCH

One event which did not take place was a match between Locke and Henry Cotton, but the South African refused to be drawn on this subject. "I prefer not to talk about it," he said.

Locke was almost equally reticent about his prospects of securing a permanent appointment in South Africa. Asked about the reported offer of a post in Johannesburg, he said:—"Before I left South Africa I had the offer of a post as professional at Maccauville, a new club, but nothing has yet been settled. In all probability when I get back there a contract will be signed, but that is all in the future."

Questioned regarding a suggestion that the post is worth £2000 a year, Locke shrugged his shoulders, saying:—"Any job is worth just what you make of it. I have become a professional golfer to make my living at the game. If I am satisfied I see no reason why others should worry about my earning capacity."

he has moved to the Weymouth district and, although he began young and cannot yet be regarded as the complete veteran, it is not likely that he will be able to play for Redruth with all the travelling involved.

However, there is plenty of strength left from the side which was beaten only three times in thirty-seven games in 1938-9. Partridge, the back, is a coming player; on the wings there are H. L. Faviell and F. S. Thompson, with C. Howard, F. Rule, and A. Craze to pick from as centres, and a choice at scrum-half between D. T. Jones and B. Thomas. In a pack all of whom have played for Cornwall, L. Semmens, hooker, and G. Robbins, a constructive wing forward, are outstanding. New sides visiting Redruth are Gloucester and Metropolitan Police.

OLD WHITGIFTERS

The replacement of the two centres, A. J. Dunnage and D. H. Christophers, of last year's successful team is the main problem for Old Whitgiftians. Dunnage, who has played for the first since 1935, is now in Nottingham, and Christophers has retired for a season owing to injuries. There are several youngsters knocking at the door, and no anxiety is felt on the subject. F. H. G. Percy will again lead the pack, and his trouble will not be so much to find forwards as whom to leave out.

For the centre position there is W. H. Bangs, the best from the School since B. E. Nicholson. A great help for the future is that M. C. Cox and J. A. Christie, last year's school halves, have left simultaneously and both have joined the club. P. T. M. With should be able to play whenever he has no engagements at Cambridge. There are no new fixtures, but Cheltenham return to the list, being visited on Easter Monday.

LLOYDS BANK

Three lively forwards who joined Lloyds Bank during 1938-9 are expected to continue their improvement this season. They are F. M. Evans from Burton-on-Trent, E. J. R. Brotherton, an Oxford Greyhound, and T. D. Tindley, of Dover. Others who were going great guns a few months ago, and should advance, are L. J. Blackborow, the captain, in the centre, and A. S. McPherson, scrum-half.

The fixtures remain about the same, R.A.C. being one of the new ones, and the Easter tour is to Penryn, Redruth, and St. Ives. Old and honoured opponents are the other bank clubs, Metropolitan Police, Saracens, Beckenham, and Old Rutlishians.

SPORTS PARADE

RAGNHILD HVEGER, the Danish holder of fourteen world's swimming records, who is probably the greatest woman free-style swimmer of all time, was included in Denmark's team to compete, against England, at swimming, diving, and water polo, at the Empire Pool, Wembley at the beginning of last month.

Danish women swimmers have within the last twelve months laid successful claim to the world's record for the 500 metres breast stroke, established by the schoolgirl, Inge Sorensen, and the 4 x 100 metres relay race, in which Hveger and three equally youthful swimmers set up a time likely to be beaten only by themselves. In addition to Hveger and Sorensen the team will include Miss I. M. Beeken, High Diving Champion of Europe.

The women selected to oppose the Danish stars are likely to find their task overwhelming, but the contest as a whole may be close, as in the men's events, particularly in water polo, England are likely to be superior.

LAWSON Little recently addressed a special note to Ralph Guldahl, twice winner of the United States Open. It was published in a number of newspapers. Here it is.

"Ralph, it is my opinion that you have lowered the standard of American golf in the eyes of the British golfing public by challenging Henry Cotton. You are a great player and a great champion, but the man you have challenged does not hold a major title at this time. If there is to be a match between you and Cotton, he should assume the position of challenger. Do you think Joe Louis would challenge Max Baer? No, it would have to be the other way around."

THERE is a decided chance, so I am informed by reliable sources, that a team of American athletes will visit Australia during the big-date season next year.

They're not keen on going to Finland for the Games, owing to war clouds in Europe.

A letter has been received in Australia from an athlete in one of the University teams on the west coast of U.S.A., California, to be exact, stating that the writer could bring with him a team of ten athletes, plus five thousand dollars, provided gratuitously by a friend of the University. Thus the tour would not be a venture shrouded with question marks for the A.A.A.

Among athletes who would go are men who can sprint 100 yards in 9.6 sec., high jump 6ft. 8in., pole vault 14ft., run a mile in 4 min. 13sec., and so on.

The matter is under consideration by various A.A.A. of N.S.W. officials, and something further, may be expected shortly.

THERE seems little doubt that the problem of golf crowds will have to be seriously tackled in the near future. With thousands of spectators scampering over a course the competitors are not getting a square deal. It was George Duncan who prophesied some years ago that on big occasions grandstands would have to be erected at certain points and no spectators except Press and officials allowed on the course.

Henry Cotton has made a more practical suggestion. It is that in the later rounds of important tournaments the admission charge should be not less than ten shillings. In what other game than golf, he asks, does the spectator get better value for his money. For half a crown the onlooker can at close quarters study the technique of scores of the best players.

Professional Events---Locke's Record

Youth In The News---Lost Ball Rule

London, August 12.

IN THE £1,000 TOURNAMENT at Brighton this week, which is the last counting score event for the Harry Vardon Trophy, we have a reminder that the task of selecting the Ryder Cup team for the professional international in Florida in November is now not far off.

Few events remain from which the P.G.A. can derive guidance, though the Match Play Championship next month may of itself promote someone to the teams. Its winner, if he does not happen to be one of the players already certain of a place, may, in effect, select himself for an international on match-play lines.

About the first five or six places in the team the selectors should have little difficulty, but the other four present a different proposition. Two candidates with something like equal claims could be named for each of these vacancies, and unless the position is clarified by this week's meeting and the one or other tournaments still to come, election by trial, which Henry Cotton, the captain of the team, is said to favour, may have to be adopted. In view of the Walker Cup trials and their successful sequel last year objections to Ryder Cup trials are not likely to carry much weight. The team, at any rate, are to have a farewell match about the middle of October, a few days before sailing, against a picked team of amateurs in foursomes and singles. A. T. Kyle, James Bruen, and Hector Thomson have already agreed to take part. Our professionals in that match ought to use the ball of the United States specifications, which they will have to employ, of course, in the international.

THE VARDON TROPHY

R. A. Whitcombe is at present leading for the Vardon Memorial Trophy, and appears unlikely to be displaced now under the revised system which governs play this year. The trophy is being decided by pointage instead of averages. The latter method introduced anomalies, since under the options that were permitted a player might have the luck to score well in certain tournaments, and to be absent from others where weather conditions caused the scores to soar. The new regulations definitely specify the events that count, and for any of these which a player misses he is automatically given 26 points, just as the competitor is who finishes outside the first twenty-five places in any of the tournaments. One point is given for a win, two for second, and so on down to the 25th position, and every competitor must complete sixteen rounds in all, and the Open Championship must be included.

Whitcombe, with a total of 18 points in the four tournaments already held looks to have an invincible start, and has a margin that will win him the trophy if he finishes, as may be taken for granted, anywhere in the first twenty at Brighton. Dick Burton, who succeeded Whitcombe as Open Champion, is his closest rival in this points quest, and was actually leading for the trophy until he collected 26 points for non-participation in the Irish Open Championship. This week's tournament will also have a bearing upon the qualifiers for next year's Penfold League event, for which some new men, including J. Fallon, the Huddersfield Scot, have a chance of competing for the first time.

"BOBBY" LOCKE GOES HOME

No more striking commentary can be made at the moment about A. D. Locke, the young South African, who sail for home this week, than to say that if he were eligible he would walk right into the Ryder Cup team. It would at any rate be difficult to contest his credentials. In neither of the big events open to him, the Open Championship and the Irish Open Championship, did he realise his ambition, but he nevertheless added, I think, to the remarkable prestige he has already built up as an international campaigner at the age of 21. Even in the two Championships mentioned he kept his extraordinary possibilities to the fore, and I cannot escape the feeling that if he had done the fourteenth hole in his first counting round at St. Andrews in the par figure instead of an 8, he would probably have won the Championship. The 67 or 68 he was heading for might have made him unbeatable.

His match-play successes, on the other hand, made an astonishing sequence; he leaves for home by no means empty-handed. In matches he has defeated Dick Burton twice since the Open, one of the wins being by 10 and 9; R. A. Whitcombe, who was Champion, when they met; and Dai Rees, the Match Play Champion. For Ryder Cup purposes these performances could not under other circumstances have been passed over, for all these defeated players are prospective members of the international team. Whether Locke has made the wiser decision in accepting a settled post with a South African Club, even at a four-figure salary, when he might have cashed in lucratively in American winter tournaments it is difficult to say. At his age he has an amazing name and reputation to capitalise, but Locke, of course, knows his won business best.

THE EDEN TOURNAMENT

In Scotland the topical accent is on youth in golf. The popular Eden Tournament at St. Andrews has just produced a new winner of 21 years, and an international company of golfers under 18 are now getting into practice at Carnoustie for the Boys' Championship, which takes place there next week. Whether A. B. Taylor, the Eden winner, will give St. Andrews golf something of the challenging power it has lacked in recent years remains to be seen. The charge is frequently made against St. Andrews golf, which has a platoon of scratch players, that it cuts no ice outside of the courses at its own doors. It has to be remembered, however, that a number of the local golfers lack competitive experience because they have neither the time nor money to go to various events about the country.

Andrew Dowie has done some excellent things in Fife and Angus golf, but the evidence suggests that he is a better score than match player, and his defeat in the Eden event did nothing to contradict the Scottish selectors' action in passing him over after the Union's championship at Prestwick. Taylor did all that was asked of him in the Eden Tournament, and did some of it more than well, his round of 69, for instance, that beat Eric Donaldson by one hole, and his finish against Walter Murray in the final. In both rounds of the final he put in a steadier finish than his more experienced opponent, and got his 4 at the thirty-fifth hole, though he had to play the approach there first, just on the heels of a three holes slump.

A BROOMIEKNOWE ECHO

Murray's return to the final after winning the tournament two years ago is a tribute to his temperament as much as to anything. He keeps admirably cool and collected. He has, I think, played in the event for ten years, and has failed to qualify only once. Though now identified with Fife, Murray is still a member of Broomieknowe Club, which he used to represent in the Lothians. That connection was brought to mind by a note I received at Eden Press quarters on the final morning from W. S. M'Blain, who was secretary of Broomieknowe for 28 years. Murray joined as a boy when the club started in 1905 and was afterwards several times its champion.

Class, as usual, told in the big Eden field; no 9 handicap player's dream of the final came true. Taylor is rated at 1 in the St. Andrews Club, and Murray is a scratch golfer. The highest handicap competitors who reached the last eight were H. E. Walker, last year's runner-up, and T. M'Lechle, the young Glasgow C. A. player, who knocked out Dowie. Both are rated at 4. Everything went well in the event, subject to the normal match-play upsets of paper calculations here and there, and save, perhaps for the slow qualifying rounds on the New Course which, on account of its trouble-flanked lines is generally slower. The slow player is always with us, too, and helps to throw things out of reckoning. The Town Council will, of course, naturally be reluctant to turn away holiday customers, but possibly a tightening-up of the handicaps might be an all-round advantage.

MIXING THE RULES

Players in the tournament were responsible for some quaint treatment of the rules of golf. Reams of paper and gallons of printer's ink must, I suppose, have been used in the past seventeen years in exposition of the rule, for instance, dealing with a lost or unplayable ball. It ought to be generally known, certainly among golfers who go in for tournaments, that if a ball is either lost or unplayable, and it is entirely in the player's option to deem a ball unplayable, the player must go back to where he played the ball from, counting stroke and distance. If the ball is lost from the drive, then the player counts three from the tee with the second ball. But in two instances in the Eden event competitors, one of them at any rate, well known, picked out of an unplayable lie, dropped the ball, and counted two strokes penalty. That, of course, is a stroke-play rule and is not applicable in matches.

The spirit should always be above the letter of the law, but golfers should be conversant with the code under which they play. In St. Andrews last week I heard the doubt expressed whether a player has the right to concede an opponent a putt. He has, but the R. and A. recommend that it should not be done.

ENGLISH SOCCER'S WARM START

London, August 21.—In recent years, the start of football in England has regularly coincided with a hot spell, and Saturday was no exception. The Jubilee Fund programme, which precedes the opening of the League competition, on Saturday was carried through in a shade temperature of 80 degrees in some places.

The hard grounds made players go gingerly, but there were many injuries, fortunately few very serious. Springett, the Gateshead left-back, was carried off on a stretcher; Jones and Morris, the Birmingham forwards, left the field at Coventry; and Mordey, the Charlton back, was taken to hospital with a leg injury. In the case of Mordey, a substitute was allowed, Tann, a reserve back, deputising. The rules of the Football Association permit substitutes except in a match played under the rules of a competition. The arrangement must be agreed by both teams before the start.

WORTHY OBJECT

The matches were played for the purpose of augmenting the fund which helps footballers who fall upon evil days. The game was well patronised, and the worthy object should receive a big fillip.

Spectators saw plenty of goals, and in two games there were scores of 4-6. Leicester City, relegated from the First Division at the end of last season, won by this margin on the Derby County ground, and Oldham Athletic, after being five up at half-time, won by a similar margin at Stockport. Ferrier, of Oldham, did the hat-trick, and other scorers of three goals were James (Chelsea), Anderson (Portsmouth), Dorsett (Wolverhampton), Chalmers (Aldershot), and Alsop (Walsall). James, who has not before played in the Chelsea first team, took the eye in the rout of Brentford on their own ground.

POLICE CLUBHOUSE OPENING

The Club House of the Hong Kong Police Sports Board, at Boundary Street Kowloon, will be opened by The Hon. Mr. C. G. Perdue on Saturday September 9th at 3.30 p.m.

At the conclusion of the opening ceremony, an exhibition football match will be played between the Hong Kong Police and Kwong Wah First Division teams, commencing at 4 p.m. Admission to Football ground 50 cents and 20 cents.

SPORTS PARADE

IN support of this claim one writer points out spectators can on the first day of the championships see ten to twelve hours play for 2s 6d; the cricket enthusiast gets six hours play for 1s; the lawn tennis fan can stand in the Centre Court at Wimbledon watching six hours tennis for 3s, and the soccer spectator can shiver for 90 minutes at Ibrox for a shilling.

But in all games other than golf the players are free from interference by the crowd, and it seems to be that the only way to limit the numbers who want to see first-class golf is to make such a charge as will ensure it. And I am certain the golfing enthusiast would not grudge even ten shillings if he is to witness the play in comfort.

While South knew that his partner's three-club bid was a shutout showing extreme weakness, his hand showed eleven sure tricks. Furthermore, a spade lead up to his Ace-Queen would automatically provide the twelfth trick, so that South can hardly be blamed for being unable to resist the tempting Slam.

West opened the King of diamonds, and although his partner signalled with the nine, he paused to consider the unusual bidding. West knew that South, a fine player, would be depending upon his partner's hand only to the extent of the club suit. This being the case, it would be hardly likely that South would contract for a Slam with two losing diamonds. Going a stop further East would certainly not have signalled in diamonds if he were blank in clubs. Therefore a shift to clubs could avail him nothing. Could East hold the spade Ace? Again no, for then South would be bidding the Slam with two sure losers.

Thus by a process of elimination West arrived at the only winning play—a trump. And since dummy was now completely useless. Declarer was forced to lose a spade trick. Good sound reasoning on the part of the West player.

But the fastest Italian bomber of 1st BR 20 was also invented in Russia and built in Italian factories. It is the wellknown Russian "Katiuska" bomber, which under the name of Fiat, was introduced into Spain and proved superior to the fastest German bomber Heinkel HE III. The small differences that exist between the Katiuska and BR 20 are due partly to subsequent improvements and partly to the fact that the Russian inventor offered different plans for the same type to the Italian secret service and Field Marshal Goering, it is true, insists that Germany is the strongest air power in the world, whereas a high officer of the General Staff in Spain takes the view that the best air fleet is the American. On the other hand, the German Chancellor himself contradicted his own minister, when, in an interview with Lord Londonderry, he stated that Russia was the great air power. This opinion is shared by the former French Air Minister Pierre Col. What conclusion is to be drawn? It may be sufficient to state that it is easier to believe a technician who raises the work of another than one who regards his own as the best. ## FIRST GERMAN WAR COMMUNIQUE

Berlin, To-day.
"Military action in Silesia, Pomerania and East Prussia brought expected successes," claims the first German war communique issued here.

German troops, it is stated, have reached the heights of Kattowitz, in Polish Upper Silesia, while German forces from East Prussia are fighting on Polish soil.

The German Air Force, the communique continues, bombed several Polish aerodromes and "gained the upper hand in the air."

Units of the German Navy, it is also claimed, have taken possession of some positions in the Bay of Danzig, while the Air Force bombed the harbour of Gdynia.—Reuter.

London, To-day.
From now on the sounding of factory sirens and hooters is prohibited except as an air raid warning.—Reuter.

London, To-day.
Fifteen bills were disposed of in record time last night by Parliament, which is to meet again at 3 o'clock to-day in order to pass several more emergency measures, including an extension of the provisions of the Militia Training Act.

Under this extension, all fit men between the ages of 18 and 41 will be liable for military service.—Reuter.

Helsinki (Finland), To-day.
According to reports reaching here, 50 German planes took part in the bombing of Katowice early this morning.—Reuter.

Paris, To-day.
The German acts of aggression started a few hours after the Polish Ambassador informed the Reich Government of the Polish attitude towards the British efforts to maintain peace, according to a communique issued by the official Polish News Agency received in Paris.

It says: "The acts of aggression, unequalled in brutality, are to be resisted by the entire Polish nation which will defend its liberty, rights and honour to the end. The German allegation that the Polish soldiers attacked Gleiwitz under which pretext the German aggression is based, is a cynical lie. No-one in the civilised world has any doubts as to who is the aggressor."—Reuter.

Ottawa, To-day.
The militia and naval and air forces have been placed on active service.

Mr. Mackenzie King, the Prime Minister, announces that Parliament will be asked to authorise the Government to give most effective co-operation with Britain.—Reuter.
